

Il Dipartimento di Scienze Politiche dell'Università degli Studi di Roma Tre è lieto di ospitare il seguente seminario:

13 DICEMBRE 2024 h 15.00

Sala 0B (piano terra), via Gabriello Chiabrera n° 199, Roma

Chair: Prof. Felicita Tramontana

Prof. Pierre Gervais - Université Sorbonne Nouvelle

“Why Keep Books? A Look at the Two Major Advanced Accounting Systems in the Early Modern Period and their Organizational Context”

Tavola rotonda

“Franciscan Account Books: Accounting Sources and Their Uses”

Chair: Prof. Christian Windler - Universität Bern

Interventi di: Rebecca Carnevali, Mattia Corso, Inês de Sá, Antonio Iodice, Cristina Setti - HOLYLAB project

JOURNAL, London, September 1, 1746.
	Debtors.	Creditors.	L.	S.
6	India Bonds
11	To Sir Transfer Dijcompt and Company, paid Abra- ham Mendez, by a Draft on the said Banker,	1500. 0. 0.
	for 15 East India Bonds of 100 l. each
	Premium at 25 s. each	18. 15. 0.
			1518. 15. 0.
		September 5.
5	William Bakerwell	Creditors.
2	By Cope, received of him, in part, for Sugar, sold the 13th of August	200. 0. 0.
		September 8.

James Dodson, The accountant, or, the method of book-keeping, deduced from clear principles, and illustrated by a variety of examples (Londra: J. Nourse, 1750) (Public domain)

Per qualsiasi informazione, rivolgersi a: felicita.tramontana@uniroma3.it;
ricerca.scienzepolitiche@uniroma3.it

Il seminario è organizzato all'interno del progetto ERC Horizon 2020 “HOLYLAB – A global economic organization in the early modern period: The Custody of the Holy Land through its account books (1600-1800)” (Grant Agreement ID 101001857) in collaborazione con l'Università di Berna. Organizzazione scientifica di Rebecca Carnevali (HOLYLAB project).